

Michael Tal MD, MBA Dr. Tal is an interventional radiologist with expertise in minimally invasive procedures who currently serves as the Head of Interventional Radiology at Assuta Medical Center, Tel Aviv, Israel, and as an Associate Clinical Professor of Radiology at the Yale University School of Medicine, US. Dr. Tal has Co-founded multiple medical device companies, brought several medical devices to market in the US, and works closely with numerous medical device companies. Dr. Tal Graduated from Hadassah Medical School in Jerusalem, Israel in 1995, and completed his training at Drexel University in Philadelphia and at Yale University in 2000. Dr. Tal completed his MBA at Yale School of Management in 2007.