

When I first qualified as a Nurse I worked on an Infectious diseases ward for a year. I then went to work on the Renal Unit at Birmingham Heartlands Hospital. I was a sister on the acute dialysis area for a number of years. I have always had an interest in vascular access for renal patients, so when the opportunity arose to be an Access Nurse Specialist I have become very passionate in access care and education of both nurses and patients. I work closely with the vascular surgeons and renal team to provide the best possible care for our dialysis patients.
